[Special to The Times Dispatch.]

ASHLAND. VA., March 26.—The northbound train, which is due here at 3:14 A. M., stopped for eight minutes, while Mr. Bryan made a short address. Long before the train arrived a large crowd gathered about the students and faculty were train stopped and Mr. Bryan appeared there was loud cheering and "rahs" given by the Bryan Club of the college. Every one pressed close up to the rear platform, while Mr. W. D. Cardwell introduced Mr. Bryan. A beautiful bouquet was handed Mr. Bryan, which he held in his hand while speaking.

The students and faculty were very done. Mr. Bryan sald in part:

Go wherever you will and to whatsoever country, and you will find that there is a party which is trying to bring the government nearer to the people, and conform to the will of the people; and you will also find that there is another party which would obstruct every stee toward require your political advancement will be measured by the sympathy you show to the masses of the people.

Do not allow your education to lead you away from them. Education is not an ornament to be used for your own vanity. It brings increased responsibility, obligations and duties, and if you connect this with the growing cause and attach yourself to the people everywhere, you will find that their choice is Democracy rather than while speaking.

The students and faculty were very anxious to have him stop over here for several hours, but owing to another engagement this could not be done. Mr. Bryen said in part:

The most beautiful spot in the city. American and European plan. Strictly chere is another party which would obstruct every step toward popular government. In this country you will find two great parties, and one of them must necessarily be nearer the people than the other. The Democratic party is that party, and you will find this party in advance of the Republican party in trying to make the government a people's government. For instance, take the election of Senators by the direct vote of the people. You will find that the Democratic party pasty resultings.
